New England Power Stake in Big Battle

2 PROBES BY STATE POWERS

Two great power groups today are warring for the New England spot.

The consumers of Massachusetts and the other New England states eventually will foot the bill for this expensive financial battle.

The source of public information, construction and entertainment are being "poisoned" with propaganda at the contest rages in which however much they may be fighting each other, the big interests are united in a campaign to hood and the people.

In Massachusetts the International Paper Company group occupies the throne of the night.

With two resolves calling for legislative investigation of this particular contest pending here and there, the Federal Trade Commission is asked Federal Trade Commission to conduct a probe of its part of the Boston Herald Traveler, the possibility loomed to say that the attorney general of Massachusetts would also be called upon to take action.

2 HELD IN POWERS

Two men were arrested today and a third is believed to have been shot in a gun duel with police after a robbery at the clubhouse of the Fraternal Order of Orioles, Centennial Ave., Boston.

Charged with breaking and entering and larceny, the two men were taken to court by Joseph P. Frawley, Jr. of Boston, and Dennis Devine, Jr. of Cleveland, Mass.

Patrolman Philip J. J. and Daniel Sullivan discovered the break. A year window was jammed and a cash register containing $100 was stolen.

Later the officers say "two men in a sedan car" were seen in the area.

North Shore rd.

Shots were exchanged when the officers gave chase. One of them was heard to shout, "I'm shot," according to the officers.

Later they went to the home of Devine's arrest case a short time later.

Police allege that they found bloodstains on the man's clothing leading to the belief that their companion was shot, but managed to escape. His arrest is expected today.

2954 Enroll First Day in Lindy Club

In a great rush, exactly 2954 New England boys and girls joined the Boston Evening American Lindbergh Club, on the first day of its existence.

The letters enclosing filled-out enrollment blanks were coming in on each day of the day. Students of every grade through personal mail and organizations. And when the editor-in-charge detailed counting, he found the total of names listed in the club's membership.

Truly, a great record for an organization evidently assured of becoming the greatest ever achieved among the boys and girls of the New England district.

One of the aims of this club is to present a wedding gift to America's young hero, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Another objective is to foster aviation interest among the young or folk.

The first person to join was Carl O. Larsen, 30 Kimball st., Dorchester. 17 years of age, he was made a personal visit to the Boston Evening American office at 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, three hours after the club was officially launched.

Two hours later a special delivery letter from Arthur Jarvis, 17 years of age, 14 Baker st., Jamaica Plain, arrived at the office of the Lindbergh Club Editor.

WIFE 'PUTS' ESTIMATED COURT

Under direct examination by Atty. Edward O. Proctor, she told of the marriage and the trip South, taken for the benefit of the little boy's health. It was on her return from this trip she said, that she noticed a change in the attitude of her husband, who had become more and more silent, displaying nothing of his interest in her or the boy.

She was then asked by Atty. Proctor to recall to Judge Harris certain happenings at their home.

HOLDUP ROBS, BEATS WOMAN

Leaving her home at 83 Tisbury ave., Revere, to visit her husband Mrs. Antonette De Masi, 53 years old, was attacked and robbed early today in one of the most daring holdups reported in this city for some time.

Joseph De Masi had left the house to take home some friends who had been visiting them and Mrs. De Masi went to meet him on his return. At Cooper ave. and Anthony st. she was grasped from behind and ordered to throw up her hands.

At the point of a revolver the thief searched the woman and took a $20 bill from a handkerchief in her coat pocket. Warning that she would shoot her if she gave the alarm, the robber struck her across the face and fled.

Mrs. De Masi made her way home and collapsed on the floor. She was found by a neighbor, Joseph Fosselle.

Pays Tribute to Troops

Worcester, April 15 (HIS)—A new Congress, the first to take the center of the national stage today for an indefinite run.

Unusually well, a quick and happy session, to continue itself solely to redemption of campaign pledges on farm relief and tariff revision and let other subjects go over until the regular session is December.

The opening day's schedule was simple. Senate and House convened at noon and adjourned at noon immediately after notifying the White House that Congress was in session and ready for business.

MESSAGE TOMORROW.

Tomorrow President Hoover will send in his message, outlining his views on tariff and farm relief.

He will also recommend a general revision of tariff schedules, and probably will include, too, a recommendation for repeal of the national origin section of the Immigration Act.

A warm fight is threatened over the so-called "tariff" and "farm" bills being supplied within the President's own party.

Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania.

Rivalry for Married Belle's Favor Leads to Death Scuffle

New York, April 15—Rivalry for the favor of a Kentucky society matron was revealed today as preliminary to a scuffle on fashionable Park ave., which was followed by the death of Arthur P. Morgan Smith, rich Cleveland manufacturer and Harvard graduate, and the arrest of Samuel E. Bell, oil promoter, on a charge of homicide.

Bell, who was arrested after a scuffle with Smith as they were leaving a party in the apartment of Mrs. Robert W. Schutte in the Hotel Marguery at 2:20 a. m. Friday, Mrs. Schutte is the widow of Harry S. Harkness, sportsman, who left her $500,000 inheritance to her father, a Standard Oil magnate.

The scuffle, witnesses said, was the outcome of an argument whether Smith or Bell should accompany Mrs. Robert L. Brown of Lexington, Ky., to the Hotel Plaza. She was held in a hotel in the custody of a police woman as a material witness.

LIFT HIM ON WALK.
An autopsy on Smith disclosed a fracture of the skull, which the medical examiner said caused death.

After Bell and Mrs. Brown had been driven away from the entrance of the Marguery leaving Smith lying where he fell, a taxi driver helped him to his feet. He wandered a short distance where he was arrested and locked up on a charge of intoxication. He was released under a suspended sentence when arraigned in magistrate's court and returned to his hotel, where he died in convulsions a few hours later.

Bell was arrested Saturday night after being questioned by Police Commissioner Whelan and detectives of the homicide squad was arraigned. His attorney pleaded a plea of not guilty. He was ordered held without bail for homicide until tomorrow.

ASSAULTS VICE SQUAD 'GRANDSTAND' RAIDS

JUDGE WARNS GARRETT TO GO EASY

The appearance of 62 Chinese in municipal court on gambling charges evoked from Judge Dowd a severe castigation of the "grandstand" methods of the vice squad led by Special Officer O. B. Garrett.

The Orientals were arrested as the result of a raid by the vice squad early in the week and on a Beach St. house, where the raiders alleged they found evidence of gambling in progress.

In addition to expressing his opposition of the wholesale arrest of the Chinese by fining them the minimum penalty of $1 each, Judge Dowd also predicted a shakeup in high police circles if the spectacular raids of the vice squad continued.

"I'm not at all in favor of these grandstand parades," declared the judge in addressing Officer Joseph Clark, one of Garrett's squad, who participated in the raid and presented the evidence before the court.

"They are nothing but publicity stunts and these methods will reach the anti-society of actions produced a few years ago when police raiders brought in 60 and 70 at a time. If somebody is not careful there will probably be another transfer of police captains in the districts involved."

"I am tired of seeing mobs such as this come in court. If this continues I will do what I have done in similar circumstances a few years ago—I will begin to put all these cases on file."

"This looks very much like as if you were rubbing it in."

All the Chinese defendants pleaded guilty to the gambling charge and were fined $2 each by the judge, who later canceled that disposition and reduced the fines to $1.

'FOUL PLAY' IN DEATH OF R. I. SCHOOL GIRL

Central Falls, R. I., April 15—"Everything at this time points to foul play."

This was the declaration today of Asst. Atty-Gen. Oscar L. Heitman, investigating the mysterious death of Florence Weirbrick, 15-year-old Pawtucket schoolgirl, whose mangled body was found on the railroad tracks near Cross at bridge, this city, on April 6.

The foul play theory is based on new evidence that has come into Heitman's possession in the last few hours. He issued a statement after a conference with Mrs. Mary Conway, sister of the dead girl, and Atty. William Troy, counsel for the family.

The conference was about alleged relations between the dead girl and Francis E. Wheeler, married, junior high school teacher of Pawtucket. Wheeler was dismissed from the school by Superintendent William A. Newell, when Coroner George J. Howe made public testimony given by Wheeler at Saturday's inquest.

Wheeler testified he has hastened to recover and destroy six letters written to Florence Weirbrick, on learning of her tragic death.

VALUED MUSIC
PLEASURES HUB AUDIENCES

By MIGNON ROYCE

Wide variety of musical entertainment of excellent quality was provided during the week-end for those who would listen—and many did. At Symphony Hall, John McCormack sang for the only time this season to a capacity audience. The attentive listener noted again the refinements of style, the superior musicianship and the human warmth that have made McCormack's very name a magnet. But there was opportunity to observe again that the passing years have begun to tell upon the incomparable voice.

Robert Leginska led the Women's Symphony Orchestra at Jordan Hall before an audience which almost filled the hall. The audience applauded with merited enthusiasm a program that included Beethoven's First Symphony and Purcell's minor concerto, with Irina Seifert as violin soloist.

The orchestra played with remarkably beautiful tone, brilliance and finish. Miss Boydell played very well, indeed, and as for Miss Leginska—she conducted with her accustomed fire.

Yet perhaps the real feature of the two days was a performance of "Aida" by the National Opera Company. The production was magnificent in the title role by all odds, the greatest Aida we ever heard. Elizabeth Borggied was an excellent Amneris, approaching the noble quality of the original. And Morton Davis displayed a voice of heroic quality, his music of Rudimentary, indicating that with training and experience he will be adequately equipped for the greatest roles in grand opera.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Will Protect You

Clarence DeMar Enters B.A.A. Patriots' Day Marathon

DeMar Enters B.A.A. Patriots' Day Marathon

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

Clarence H. DeMar of the Melrose Post, American Legion, national A. A. U. Marathon champion and the country's best long-distance plodder, has entered the 33d annual Boston Athletic Association Patriots' Day classic, held over the historic highways between Hopkinton and Boston, on Friday.

The entry of DeMar, who is within two months of being 41 years of age, six times winner of the B. A. A. classic and three times a member of Uncle Sam's Olympic Marathon team, was received at the B. A. A., according to announcement given out by Chairman A. T. Hart, of the athletic committee of the Boston Athletic Association.

It is likely that this will be the last B. A. A. Marathon that DeMar will take part in, as he is to be married in September.

During the years of 1920 when DeMar ran his first race, the veteran Marathoner has gathered in six first prizes in the event out of 40 races, while he finished second and third a couple of times.

WON FIRST IN 1911

DeMar gathered in his first B. A. A. Marathon race in 1911 then retired until 1917 when he came back to finish third. Again he gave up Marathoning in the A. A. classic until 1922 when he won and set up a new record of 2:10:00.

Then in 1923 DeMar came back and took gold and again in 1924 he showed the way of a flock of runners. Charles "Chick" McFar, the winner in 1925 but DeMar was at his heels.

In 1926 Clarence was bruised and Johnny Miles Sydney of New York, finished second. In 1927, 1928 and 1929 DeMar again won and last year he added to his laurels by winning the event and setting up another record. When he won the national title in 1928 he won his way to the Olympic games at Amsterdam.

MILES ENTERED

Another important entry received with that of Clarence DeMar was that of John C. Miles, of New York, under the colors of the Olympic Club of Hamilton, Ont.

Miles is looking forward to giving DeMar plenty of competition in the long grind on Friday. From Guelph, Ontario, comes another runner of note, Fred F. Howard. The folks back home are looking him as a possible winner.

Braves in Go With Fast Hot Cross Baseball Team in Worcester Today

With the Braves clashing with Holy Cross at Worcester today in a game postponed from last week, and the Red Sox preparing to invade the hostile territory of the New York Yankees, the 1929 major league baseball opening tomorrow, a campaign which will bring a close battle in each league.

The Tribe meets the Purple Colossus today in its final exhibition game, a contest that should put the Braves on edge to face the slants of "Larry" Clark, Brooklyn ace, tomorrow at New York.

As in other years, Holy Cross comes up as one of the strongest college teams in the east, an outfit that already has the makings of a couple of minor league teams depending from its line.

TRIBE ON BENCH
Judge Emil Fuchs, boss of the Tribe, who insists on sitting on the bench to issue orders, would prefer to give the players a rest today prior to the opening of the season, but, unless the weather will permit, Sunday baseball was launched in the Hub when 1929 loyal fans weathered the frigid atmosphere to get an early glimpse of the new Hub team in action. Both the Braves and the Yankees were ready for the showdown and baseball action may be thrown for a few more weeks of the schedule have passed.

Both teams are doomed to the cellar according to the experts opinion but neither team looked like a cellarite in their exhibition games. The Braves exhibited an inner defense which is far superior to that of years gone by with Freddy Maguire and Rabbit Maranville leading the way in the middle of the diamond.

The long double play turned in by these players indicates that the Tribe pitchers will not have much to worry about on this score. The Braves' Sailer and Joe Nathan showed ability to stop around a little faster than in other years. Inside the present outfield of Sailer, Harper, Clark and Ribicoff were kept intact until their last season for a change.

The Tribe hurrying against the spring series, proved nothing to add to the story, and for this reason the fans expect an all around improvement. While the Red Sox were unable to even finish the season in the Boston market, the attack of the team didn't suffer in comparison with that of the Tribe. The Sox pounded the ball hard, yet were unfortunate to make their drives at some waiting fielder. The infield also proved a vast improvement over past years, while the outfield is still an uncertainty.

B. C. Class Track Meet Winds Up Today

Boston College's spring intercollegiate track meet will close at the Heights today with the field events and the hurdle races. The freshmen led as a result of the running events held in a sea of mud last Friday. The boys of 1929 gathered 17 points.

Coach Ryrie is enthusiastic over two prospects who popped up in the running races in Ward and Jackson, Freshman, Ward won the 200-yard race from Harkins and Freeman, veteran, and Ryrie placed third in the quarter-mile.

Coach Wilcoxson is optimistic about many points for the seniors to lead, while Jim Sullivan will add something to the junior totals of 18. The seniors have five points, while the sophomores have 10.

Providence, April 15—New York Nationals were held to their record tie in as many days when they played a 2 to 2 tie with Providence in an American League game here.

Providence, April 15—New York Nationals were held to their record tie in as many days when they played a 2 to 2 tie with Providence in an American League game here.

Brave Shows Courage

Al Spohrer, Braves' catcher, is shown completing a successful slide in the second inning of the first Sunday big league ball game played in the Hub, between the Braves and Red Sox. Spohrer's drive at the sack has knocked Regan, Sox infielder, away from the base.

Hub Soccer Team Wins

Brooklyn, April 15—The Boston soccer team defeated Brooklyn Wanderers by a 2 to 1, here before 1500 fans.

The New England victory was accomplished without the service of Jack McIntyre for part of the first half and all of the second period. He was ordered off the field for getting into too hot an argument with the referee.

Having no substitutes Boston was forced to play with 10 men. Four forwards were used who were too good for the Wanderers' defense to cope with.

The Boston front line swept the Wanderers' defense and Smith was in great form and managed to get everything off with Tommy Blair crashed the ball by him on a great pass by Burnes.

"How many more times must Al Mello defeat Joe Dundee before he is hailed as welterweight champion of the world?" asks a voice from Lowell.

"Dope only once more," said Mr. Boston. "Dundee protected his title in both of his contests with Mello by insisting that the Lowell warriors enter the ring above 147 pounds which is the notch for the welterweight division."

"When Mello and Dundee meet again, the contest will be for the championship. Dundee was at 147 pounds last Friday night and should not have any trouble making the weight. Mello scaled 151 pounds in the Garden mill, but has been around 146 pounds for most of his local appearances."

Bobby Goldman says Al can reduce to 147 at 3 o'clock and still retain all of his strength. The question of whether Mello will be at his best when fighting at 147 pounds will tend to stimulate interest in the championship match.

The two Mello-Dundee bouts were jammed with action. The coming title skirmish should be even more thrilling as Mello will be battling to win the crown, while Dundee will do his best to retain his present honors.

"If winter will leave Boston for a few days at least, the Hub will stage a successful baseball opening at Braves Field tomorrow night of the spring training and want to see the rival clubs in action."

Judge Dundee says that with a few pitching breaks the Braves will give the opposition plenty of trouble.

Bluman, a southpaw, finds it difficult to find opponents among the welterweights on account of his style.

Cabane, another Philadelphian, will make his debut here when he clashes with Johnny Dundee, the popular welterweight.

Two local rivals, Jimmy Curley and Jimmy Kid Carter, also are scheduled for a 10-round bout.

Maiden City Club Wins Over Merritts
Maiden City Club won its second game when it defeated the Merritts in a 10-round bout.

A late rally, featured by Jimmy Mulvaney and Ralph Brown, accounted for six runs for the winners in the fourth inning.

Francis Enos did not allow a run in the fourth inning, but the mound Anderson was effective for the Merritts in five innings.

B. C. Dartmouth in Diamond Battle
Boston College and Dartmouth will furnish the Hub with its first big college baseball contest of 1929 at Newton tomorrow afternoon.

The invasion of the Green has been made an early season objective by the Eagles.

Six-Day Novel by a Famous Author

CHAPTER I
I, SIR HENRY FORDYCE, of Aylmers, am the only person in a position to gratify the public interest in the extraordinary series of crimes known as the "Mysterious Disappearance Cases."

The scene of the first disappearance was a London office, north of Holborn. The date was December 12 and the time about 5 o'clock.

Chief Inspector Bateson of Scotland Yard sent Inspector Gilmour and Sgt. Paton on the case.

The vanished person was Walter Arnold, a jewel merchant. Mr. Arnold dealt largely in pearls. He had spent the greater part of his life in India. He occupied fourth-floor offices near Hatton Garden. He had vanished in the most inexplicable manner, and it was suspected that a quantity of pearls and precious stones had vanished with him.

Arnold's offices consisted of an outer room, in which two clerks worked, and an inner room. Arnold's private office in the wall to the right on entering the outer office there were two windows, looking into a narrow lane.

Facing the door of entry was another door, the only door to the private office. The other wall had neither door nor window and was only broken by a small fireplace. The inner office had a similar small fireplace one door, and opposite the door, a window looking into a well.

The inner office contained pearls and precious stones in a massive safe.

The affair looked so simple that Gilmour did not dream it would take him long.

He was glad he had brought along Paton, a man quite capable of dealing with it.

The inspector questioning of the two clerks elicited the following information:

Between 4:30 and 5 o'clock a stout man, a Mr. Osborn, had called on Mr. Arnold. He was of average height, with reddish hair, a mustache and pointed beard and dressed in black. He spoke with cultivated accent, and walked rather slowly in what one clerk called a ponderous, the other a deliberate, kind of way.

The clerks could not say if Mr. Arnold recognized him or not. In about half an hour Osborn had come out alone and with a polite "good evening" to the clerks, had left. Nothing more had been thought of the incident until closing time. Mr. Arnold was usually on time, but at 5:30 his door was not opened.

They had then knocked twice and tried the door. It would not open.

The clerks, who had telephoned for the police, were staggered to find the room empty.

Gilmour, after examination, agreed with the clerks that it was impossible to imagine their employer having gone by the window, though they evidently realized the dilemma which this admission landed them.

Arnold was described as a man considerably over 50, five feet seven, or eight at the outside, in height, fat, baldy, physically nervous to a high degree and with the undeveloped muscles of a man who never took any exercise.

These were the main points of the evidence given by the clerks. Warner the elder of them, was a man of 40, a steady looking, quiet-spoken man. The younger man, Roy, Please Turn to Page 17, Column 2.

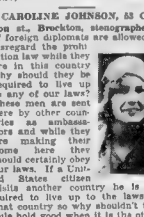

Free Big Wanamaker Gift of Estate Tax

Washington, April 15 (AP)—The board of tax appeals, in a decision today, ruled that property valued at $100,000 transferred to members of his family by John Wanamaker two years prior to his death in 1922 was not transferred in contemplation of death and an estate would not be assessed for an estate tax.

THE CURIOUS QUIZZER

THE QUESTION
Do you agree with a number of U. S. Senators that foreign diplomats should be required to subscribe to the U. S. prohibition law?

ANSWER
"CAROLINE JOHNSON, 9 Gould st., Brockton, stenographer—If foreign diplomats are allowed to disregard the prohibition law while they are in this country why should they be required to live up to any of our laws? Three men are sent here by other countries as ambassadors and while they are making their home here they should certainly obey our laws. If a United States citizen visits another country he is required to live up to the laws of that country so why shouldn't this rule hold good when it is the other way around?"

THE ANSWER
I think that the United States Senators who say that foreign diplomats should be required to subscribe to the prohibition law are entirely right. When a law is made by the legislature it is meant to be obeyed by all people in this country and no one should be allowed to break it.

SUPPORT OF DELEGATES SOUGHT

Washington, April 13 (AP)—More than 300 delegates and several thousand sit-inates and attendants assembled here today for the 25th continental congress of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Aside from the election of a new president-general tomorrow, the liveliest contests in prospect for the delegates lay in the appeal of Mrs. Helen Tutts Bailie of Boston from her expulsion by the national board of managers last year after she had charged national officers with plotting a "blacklist" of the names of persons they wished banned from making public addresses.

The retiring president-general Mrs. Alfred J. Brouseau, announced Mrs. Bailie's petition would be taken up in the regular course of business. The issue, meanwhile, has become more or less connected with the re-electing of the two trustees for the national offices of the society. Mrs. Bailie's followers having expressed preference for Mrs. Julia Y. L. White of Albany, N. Y. over Mrs. Lowell E. Hart of Oberlin, Ohio, as Mrs. Brouseau's successor.

D. A. R. Procession Of Pages Led By Trumbull Girl

Washington, April 13 (AP)—A procession of pages led by Florence Trumbull, fiancée of John Coolidge, and daughter of the Governor of Connecticut, and Nina Denoon, daughter of the Illinois senator, marked the opening of the congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution here today. The two will act as personal page to Mrs. Alfred J. Brouseau, president-general, during the meeting.

Chief Kendall and Safety Head to Speak

Chief of Police Kendall of Somerville and John F. McManis, president of the Somerville Safety Council, will speak tomorrow night at the monthly meeting of the Winter Hill Improvement Association in the Fisher College Building, 376 Broadway, Winter Hill. Mr. McManis will explain in detail the safety measures as recommended to the city government, and Chief Kendall will talk on matters pertaining to his office.

BOSTON TRADING AREA BANK DEPOSITS ARE 3 BILLIONS

By ROBERT S. THORNBURG
International News Service Correspondent

Washington, April 13 (INS)—Another step toward a more complete diagnosis of America's business anatomy was taken today by the commerce department with the announcement of results of a trade research of New England.

Eventually the commercial picture of every section of the United States will be taken, charted and made available to business interests.

The data made public today showed that New England as a whole had one person in every 14 who paid income tax while one in every 45 purchased an automobile in 1920 and 1921.

The large commercial cities—Boston, Springfield, Providence, Hartford, New Haven, Worcester and Portland—were of primary importance as "wholesale centers," the review said. "Such centers at Bangor, Me.; Burlington and St. Paul, Vt.; Concord and Manchester, N. H. and Pittsfield, Mass., assume importance in the wholesale trade."

There were about 14,000 who paid income taxes on income over $10,000 annually. Wholesale trade outlets numbered 5,535 and retail outlets 55,041.

Just a small piece of real estate, say 10 acres, for 100,000, and you can see the second value just today the real estate column of the classified Ads.

West's Probable Tricks in the two hands are 8 and 10. East's trick short of the 8 shown by his bid is 10. The combined number of Probable Tricks in the two hands totals 114, instead of 104. The probability in the hand is 100 per cent for the success or failure of a finesse.

South's opening lead of the King of Clubs is won by East with the Ace. East's second lead, the Ace of Spades, leads to a second round of trumps, winning with the King of Hearts in Dummy. He then leads the Ace of Clubs, which is won by the King of Spades, trumping in his own hand. As the King of Spades drops on this round, East plays a second round of trumps, winning with the Queen of Hearts in Dummy, and leads two rounds of Spades, upon which he discards his two losing clubs. This is a brilliant and uncavalty attack of the Diamond Finesse. The rest of the play is a cross-ruff, a small Club being lost on the fifth round.

aged and infirm, a monastery for men and a convent for women, a courier and a civil person, a geographical institute, a large observatory with a European telescope, and two clubs, one military and one for merchants. Twenty-two handsome churches, including two cathedrals, rear their graceful spires in various parts of the city.

Nearly all of these buildings are the gifts of rich residents, just as the famous cathedral at Kraonnyarsk was presented to the city by a man who made millions in vodka.

The population of Irkutsk is an admixture of proud, intelligent exiles and able chivalry and honest peasants descended from the most part from Tartar tribes of Mongolian extraction. The picturesque costumes and sale of the various wares will appeal especially to travelers

A large map was spread upon the wall, and the teacher was instructing the class in geography.

"Horace," she said to a small pupil, "when you stand in Europe, what do you have on your right hand the great continent of Asia. What have you on your left hand?"

"A wart," replied Horace, "but it can't help it, teacher."

Story by Lloyd Mayer

By John Held, Jr.

MY dearer, I'm ALL-of-a-TIZzy-whis! I mean I HONestly COULdn't be DIZalze at this point because I'm ACTually never SEEN anybody more Utterly PRIMITIVE than ARAB, my dear! I mean the offc IDEAS he conceives simply SLAY me, no less, because for instance when I enCOUnTered the pisapeak on the BEACH to-day, my dreamr, I was BABBLING INGENUously to him about what a simply seAPe-ETIC TAN we were all of us getting down here, my dear, and I REMARKED with some FACILITY that it would be WORTH a lot up NORTH, whereupon ARDMORE inquires what makes me think it isn't worth a lot down HERE, and, my dear, like an uncouth OAF, fall RIGHT into the TRAP and acquire 'WHAT do you MEAN?' Whereupon the weird goofer trixigantly responds that some of the people here at Palm Beach are pig about a HUNDred and seventy dollars a square INCH for their tan—can you BEAR it, my dear? I mean I was SIMPLY LIVID because you on earth didn't think of springing that on some unsuspecting gink, my dear? But, my dear, I'm CONSUMED with a FRANTIC desire to tell you about this perfectly MAD scene I had with BULL seconds LATER, my dear—I mean I ACTUALLY AM!"
